

July 31, 2017

A major acquisition for Novatech, specialized in analytical solutions

Novatech Analytical Solutions Inc. is acquiring all the assets of G.A.S. Analytical Systems Ltd., based in Western Canada and specialized in analytical solutions.

This acquisition allows Novatech to pursue its strategic expansion across Canada and establishes Novatech/G.A.S. as the analytical solution and service leader across the country.

Novatech and G.A.S. Analytical will continue to provide their clients with the high quality solutions for which they are known.

"We have a clear vision of growth for Novatech, with the desire to establish our presence across Canada and to be seen as the premier provider of analytical solutions to our customers. With similar expertise, clients, market knowledge and product portfolios, the synergies between our two companies will serve to benefit our customers and our suppliers. With joined forces, two respected companies come together as one," stated Frédéric Vergès, President of Novatech.

"We are excited to welcome the staff of G.A.S. to Novatech, and we intend to immediately continue to support all of its clients and suppliers. G.A.S. has always striven for excellence and we are delighted to benefit from the expertise and skills of its entire team," added Matt Welland, Regional Director of Novatech.

"Teaming up with Novatech will allow us to offer broader solutions to our existing clients, and to be part of a national company from the West Coast to the East Coast," stated Bob McClellan, one of the founders of G.A.S. Analytical.

"In the wake of this major announcement, the Management of G.A.S. wishes to express to all of its loyal employees how incredibly proud we are to be able to work alongside you. As we explore all of the new opportunities that lay before us in light of this association with Novatech, a leader in the field of analytical instrumentation, we can be sure that the work ahead in the coming months will be exciting for this newly expanded team," added Franco Imbrogno, cofounder of G.A.S.

About Novatech

Since 1986, Novatech has been a leading supplier of analytical instrumentation and solutions including the measurement of gases and liquids for process, environmental and ambient detection.

About G.A.S.

G.A.S. Analytical Systems Ltd. was founded in 1999 in Calgary, Alberta. Since then, G.A.S. has developed a respectable reputation in the process analytics industry, providing complete analytical solutions. The company strategically serves a diverse industry, including the following: oil and gas, pulp and paper, water quality, mining, power generation.